DON BRADMAN TREATS OVAL CROWD TO QUICK SCORING

London, To-day.
The Australians, with 7 wickets in hand, are only 69 runs behind the Surrey total of 475 in their match at Kennington Oval.

Sandham, who had score 201 overnight carried his score to 219 yesterday morning, and with the later batsmen using the long handle 103 runs were added in quick time for the loss of four wickets. E. R. T. Holmes then applied the closure, giving the Australians an hour's batting before lunch.

Scores as enabled by Reuter were:
Surrey: 475 for 7 dec. (Sandham 219, Gregory 116).
Australians: 406 for 3 (S. J. McCabe 185 not out, W. H. Ponsford 125, D. G. Bradman 77).

DARLING'S DERBY COLTS

COLOMBO AT HIS BEST

London, To-day.

It is understood that Fred Darling, trainer of Easton and Medieval Knight, two promising Derby entries, will gallop the colts on Saturday to decide which horse Gordon Richards, the champion jockey, and Steve Donoghue, winner of six Derby classics in his career, will take out in the Derby at Epsom next Wednesday.

Lord Glanely's Colombo, the favourite, is reported by trainer Hogg to be at his best, and the hardness of the ground is not troubling the trainer who says, "What suits the other horses will suit Colombo."

The Derby favourite will be ridden by Togo Johnstone, the Australian-Japanese rider who has been brought to England from the Commonwealth especially to ride Colombo in the blue riband of the Turf.—Reuter.

"THROUGH TICKETS" EXCEED 2,000.

69,000 Sold In Big $1.00 Sweep.

Results far exceeding expectations have been realised by the Hong Kong Jockey Club, following their reduction in the price of Cash Sweep tickets from $5.00 to $1.00, the sales of "Through Tickets" on to-morrow's Meeting having already exceeded 2,000.

Sales yesterday jumped from 1350 to 1760, and this morning a further 240 were sold, thus passing the 2,000 mark.

As the Cash Sweeps on to-morrow are limited to 2,500 the possibility is that there will be very few tickets for sale on those races on the course. Patrons will, however, have the opportunity of buying tickets on the sixth, eighth and ninth races, which have been limited to 3,000, 3,000 and 7,000 respectively.

The seventh sweep is the mammoth Juling Sweep, tickets for which have already exceeded 69,000.

WILDEST UNCERTAINTY AT GENEVA

MODIFICATIONS ADVOCATED.

UNCONDITIONAL PROHIBITION OF AERIAL BOMBARDMENT

Heroic Gesture May Prove Unavailing.

Geneva, To-day.

To-day is probably a decisive day in the life of the Disarmament Conference. Wildest uncertainty prevails, though it is generally believed that an adjournment is the only practical solution.

As a heroic effort to bridge the wide gap between the British and French attitudes, both the Spanish and Swedish delegations will advocate, with modifications, a neutral nations' memorandum proposing, inter alia immediate measures to prevent aggravation of the existing situation and unconditional prohibition of aerial bombardment, together with a substantial amount of Disarmament, involving a moderate, but practical, realisation of the principle of equality of rights.—Reuter.

Speedy Transformation Essential.

EXTREME RESERVE SHOWN BY DELEGATIONS.

Geneva, To-day.

"The situation was never more critical in the 2½ years since the Conference began," said Mr. Arthur Henderson, President of the Disarmament Conference, in an exclusive statement to Reuter. "Unless there is a speedy transformation, it will become hopeless."

"The situation is such that the delegations are showing extreme reserve in regard to declaring their position. The discussions may end at the next sitting of the General Commission," he said.—Reuter.

SUICIDE DRAMA IN KOWLOON

Alleged Quarrel With Unknown Woman.

FOUR POISON BOTTLES FOUND IN VICTIM'S ROOM

E. C. Grey, a Eurasian employed at the China Light and Power Meter Department, Kowloon Tong, was taken to the Kowloon Hospital yesterday afternoon from No. 4 Chi Wo Street, where he lived, but died at about 8 p.m. from the effects of lysol poisoning.

Grey, who was about 20 years of age, had been working at the China Light and Power Company for about two years, coming here from Singapore.

According to details from Ah Sam, an amah at the address in Chi Wo Street, Grey returned home yesterday at 3 p.m. followed by a woman. The amah stated that after entering his room with the woman a quarrel ensued at about 4 p.m. The woman then suddenly rushed out and telephoned to a doctor. Grey was found in an unconscious condition and was immediately taken to the Kowloon Hospital. The amah further stated that she handed two bottles of lysol to the police, which she found in the room.

The name of the woman accompanying the late Mr. Grey is unknown, but she is believed to have come from Singapore.

STRATEGIC MOVE

American-Japanese Agreement?

POSITION OF SINGAPORE AND HONG KONG

London, To-day.

A report that America intends to withdraw her squadron from Manila, although she is entitled, under the Philippine Independence Act, to maintain a naval base there, is referred to to-day by the diplomatic correspondent of the London "Morning Post." He states that it is understood that the move will be strategic, the squadron being too weak to defend itself against possible enemy forces that would be available before the arrival of help.

The closing down of the Manila base will facilitate an American-Japanese agreement, but it leaves questions such as Singapore and Hong Kong unanswered.

There is, however, no reason to suppose an agreement with Great Britain could not be reached on the matter.—Reuter.

It was stated earlier that if Private Clogg was not formally charged to-day he would be released, but official confirmation of this morning's rumours that Clogg would be given his liberty were only confirmed this afternoon.

BREEZE AT MEETING OF DRUG EXPERTS

Mr. Victor Hoo Assails Japanese Delegate.

MANCHUKUO PERMIT PROBLEM

Geneva, To-day.

The Opium Advisory Committee, sitting privately, last night, discussed the question of import certificates for Manchukuo. The majority of the Committee, in order to avoid raising the political aspect of the question, favoured the retention of the existing system, whereby Consular permits are used.

Mr. Delevigne, the British representative, maintained that these permits did not offer the same guarantees as import certificates. The Committee decided that it was not qualified to settle the issue.

WILL IMPROVE

Mr. Yokoyama stated that the situation in Manchukuo was the legacy of former rulers. His Japanese friends in Manchukuo advised him that the situation would continue to improve.

This led to a passage of words with the Chinese delegate, Mr. Victor Hoo, Mr. Yokoyama having said that Japan had not had anything to do with Manchukuo, and Mr. Hoo maintaining that Mr. Yokoyama's friends must have more power than the advisers if they could deal with the drug question.

The Committee later adopted the report of the sub-committee on seizures.—Reuter.

Buttons are important this season. At a recent dress show contrasting buttons were a feature on many of the models. "A HOLLYWOOD CURVE"

Hollywood, Calif.

Madame Rose Binner, expert corsetiere from New York, has frank opinions of some of the stars' figures.

Not that she has been uncompromising, for Mme. Binner thinks the cinema beauties have the best forms in the world. But she has been utterly frank in remarking that mere thinness doesn't necessarily result in a beautiful figure.

Mme. Binner notices that the Hollywood girls are putting on weight, for instance, which gives their bodies that rounded slenderness that is so attractive.

No Ugly Breaks

In regard to the present day mode of the rather long skirt and tight fitting lines, she cautions against women permitting graceful curves to have ugly breaks. The present-day silhouette is the hardest to maintain, she says, and thinks that the near future may bring some sort of crocheted girdle that will solve the problem of long unbroken lines.

Rosa Binner is regarded as an authority among authorities when she comments on figures, as it was she who started the form-fitting business in Vienna in the '80's. She had a contract to deliver half a dozen grey cotton corsets to the palace of the Empress Elizabeth every six months.

Lillian Russell was one of her clients and for her Mme. Binner designed the most expensive corset ever made. It was a gorgeous black

It was she who made Mae West's stays for "Diamond Lil," although she doesn't believe that old-fashioned shape will ever be popular again.

Mme. Binner is tremendously interested in Hollywood and she says, "a Hollywood curve—because of the medium of the screen—will go farther than any other in the world if properly directed."

DYNASTY STABLE MAY WIN 2 RACES AT TO-MORROW'S MEETING

JOE FRASER BOWLS WELL AT TAIKOO

Tacchi Deadly In Both
Drawing And Driving

BUT DOCKS RECORD FIRST WIN

On Saturday afternoon the Kowloon Docks Recreation Club defeated the Kowloon Cricket Club to register their first win of the season. Joe Fraser played well for the defeated team and was largely responsible for his rink's victory, though for consistently good bowling C. J. Tacchi was outstanding. H. Kempton played well for the victors on the second green, as did A. M. Calman also; what honours there were for the skips were shared equally.

On the third green the game was more evenly contested than the score suggests, and many fine heads were witnessed.

C. E. Elliott-Heywood and R. G. Craig were well matched, but the slight superiority that J. C. Brown displayed over A. E. Silkstone finally gave him the victory.

It was on this green that the highest score for one head was registered. Hampton was short with his first wood, and Mitchell drew to about a foot beyond the jack for a shot. Hampton then played a wood jack-high; G. N. Mitchell played on it and cut across to increase the lay to 2. J. A. Howe and M. Ferguson failed to alter the lay with their first woods, but Ferguson with his second shot promoted Hampton's first wood, which cut across and blocked the forehead approach.

Elliott-Heywood Reduces Lay

With his first wood Elliott-Heywood went through: W. Greig was short with his wood and rested Hampton's wood, completely closing the forehead port. Elliott-Heywood then drew on the backhand and succeeded in reducing the lay to 2: Craig played on this wood and recovered the lay of 3. Silkstone inspected the lay and then attempted to draw, but was about a yard short and wide.

Brown played to hit Silkstone's wood, cannoned off it and went in for the shot.

Having nothing to lose by trailing the jack, Silkstone played heavily, but his wood was too narrow and carried through without altering the lay. Brown, with a large area to draw to, bowled his last wood and drew to give the Docks a lay of 5.

Brown Again Shing

On another head Elliott-Heywood drew to within 3 inches of the jack for the shot. Craig rested this wood for second shot, and Elliott-Heywood then rested Craig's wood to take second shot. Craig with his second wood rested the second shot for a good third. Silkstone, however, bowled well and blocked the backhand approach. Brown, in trying to go round Silkstone's wood hit shifted it. Silkstone then tried to draw, but being too heavy and giving his wood too much green he carried through without altering the lay. Brown drew carefully and succeeded in trailing the Jack to a Docks' backwood, to give the Docks the shot.

Poor Bowling

On the middle green there were very few heads that could be called good, and several that were definitely poor. One that was particularly noticeable was that in

TAIKOO SUPERIOR TO CRAIGENGOWER WINNERS' SKIPS SHOW SPLENDID FORM

At TAIKOO last Saturday Craigengower "A" team won their fixture with the Dockers in a convincing manner, being victorious on all three rinks to win the match by 30 shots.

The best game of the afternoon was between Neil Drummond and B. W. Bradbury. Each skip held the lead on several occasions until shortly after the tea interval, when Bradbury went on to win by 8 shots.

The game between J. Chalmers and R. Basa also resulted in an 8 shot win for the C.C.C., but the result was never in doubt. U. M. Omar had the biggest win, defeating D. Munro by 11 shots.

In the match between Omar and Munro, Tarkoo were quick off the mark, and were leading by three shots at the conclusion of the fourth end. Craigengower, however, then found their form and scored 17 shots on the following five heads, (including two fives), to gain a commanding lead.

G. L. Buchanan laid the foundations of a good score on the 5th with two well-judged shots.

W. C. Brown, J. J. Whyte and G. Duncan were all rather narrow, but G. H. Stewart took one shot with a drive. H. Beer increased the lay to four, the Tarkoo No. 3 being wide with his second attempt to drive. Munro fell very short with both woods and Omar drew nicely to increase the lay to five.

Shortest End

Both Buchanan and Brown were heavy on the following end, which was the shortest that had been played. Duncan's wood, which lay a good yard from the jack, was the shot, and although Whyte touched the jack, the position remained unaltered. Beer drew well for first two, incidentally covering the shot, thereby increasing the lay to two; Stewart just failed to cut Beer's wood away, and Omar drew a third shot, Munro being again short with both woods.

The 12th end was very open when C. H. Summers drew the shot, but A. A. Razack faced his wood and had a "toucher" with his second shot. R. M. McKeown missed the jack by a fraction of an inch, and R. F. Luz consolidated the position with a perfect "blocker," which effectively prevented J. C. Chalmers, the Tarkoo skip, from altering the lay. R. Basa, being content with the two shot lay, decided to leave well alone.

Luz Prominent

Luz was again prominent of the 13th, bowling perfectly to rest the jack after Razack had previously drawn the first and second shots. Basa added another, and Chalmers was faced with a four-shot lay. With a well-judged drive, the Tarkoo skip took out two shots with his first wood, but Basa drew another, and with Chalmers being narrow with his second attempt, the visitors recorded three.

Another good drive by Chalmers on the following end gave Tarkoo a single. On a very open end, Basa promoted his own wood to lay the shot, but taking careful aim, Chalmers displaced him, and left his own wood lying the shot.

Some very good bowling was seen on the 16th head. J. S. Landolt, Summers and Razack all drawing almost dead to the jack. A great shot by Stewart took out the two opposing woods, and although Luz drove well, Tarkoo still lay the shot, and with Basa failing short, Chalmers drew well for the second shot.

McKeown had a lovely "toucher" on the 17th, only to be taken out by Luz who trailed the jack with his second wood. Chalmers, however, made a perfect draw to rest the jack and take a single.

Good Lay Broken Up

On the 18th it seemed that Tarkoo would make a record score, for both Basa and Summers drew well, while Razack improved the lay for Tarkoo by knocking up Basa's wood.

Luz, however, spoiled things again with a good drive, which reversed the lay.

McKeown sent down a perfect wood to trail the jack, and with both skips wide, Tarkoo scored another single.

Although Craigengower increased their lead by three on the next two ends, the home four scored three on the last head.

On the 7th, Whyte trailed the jack nicely and then faced his own wood with his second shot, but with a splendid draw, Beer got between them for the shot, and with Munro again short, Omar drew the second shot.

Five For Craigengower

Duncan drew well on the 8th end to lay the shot, a lay which was improved by Whyte, who, in attempting a difficult draw, unfortunately knocked up Duncan's wood to rest the jack. Beer drew a second, but was neatly taken out by Stewart, who then displaced Duncan to lay the shot. With his first wood, Omar was a shade narrow of his objective, but his wood cannoned on to the jack, carrying through to leave a lay of 4. Munro failed to alter and Omar drew well for the fifth.

Craigengower were going great guns and gathered another two on the 9th, although Tarkoo were not having the least bit of luck. Brown trailed the jack and Whyte came in well for second shot. Stewart increased the lay to 3, but once more Omar sent down a perfect wood to rest the jack, and followed up by facing this wood for the second shot.

MAGNIFICENT PLAY BY POOLER AND PURVIS

Favourites For Pairs Title
Given Extensive Trial

One of the sensations of the first round of the Open Pairs Lawn Bowls Championship was provided on Wednesday on the H.K.F.C. green when U. M. Omar and B. W. Bradbury, probably the strongest challengers for the title, were fully extended by two novices, J. Purvis and J. Pooler, of the Civil Service C.C.

The Civil Service players, who only took up the game last year, actually led the Craigengower pair by two shots on the 18th head, but in a final effort the veterans scored on the next two heads to clinch the game by 19 shots to 17.

which Calman trailed the jack with each of his woods and remained the only player to get his woods within 2 feet of it until R. P. Phillips trailed the jack with his last wood to take the shot.

On the 9th, head the first 3 woods bowled down were heavy and took up positions a yard or more from the jack.

J. Kempton then made good use of his woods to draw for both first and second shots.

E. C. Fincher played one heavy and one soft wood; McKelvie drew for third shot. Phillips drew to fourth shot with his first wood, but with his second he displaced J. McKelvie's third shot and so left the Docks lying 2.

The 20th head was a good one. T. Coleman and Calman each drew well to beat their opponents and give the Docks a lay of 2.

Kempton then bowled short and made it difficult for Fincher to alter the lay. With his second wood Fincher unfortunately promoted Kempton's wood to third shot. McKelvie tried to draw, but his wood failed to "take" and went through wide. Phillips was close with his draw, but did not alter the position. McKelvie then played his last wood—it struck another lying jack high and cut across to increase the Docks lay to 4. Phillips inspected the lay and tried to draw, but his wood failed to make the port so that the Docks were left 4 up.

Tacchi's Fine Bowling

The match between Greig's and Fraser's fours was full of excitement, and the bowling was both spectacular and good.

On two occasions Fraser with his last wood converted lays of 4 in favour of the Docks to lays in the Cricket Club's favour, and on another reduced to one a lay of 5 that the Docks had piled up against him.

Tacchi was deadly both at drawing and driving. On the 7th head the Docks were lying 2, but with his first wood Tacchi trailed the jack but only succeeded in taking second shot. With his next wood he rested the winning shot and displaced it sufficiently to give his rink a lay of 2. J. A. Lindsay with his first shot also trailed the jack and recovered the lay for the Docks.

Fraser later played on Lindsay's wood, and again took the lay for the Cricket Club. Greig played heavily, trailed the jack and recovered the lay. Fraser was wide with his second wood, and Greig was light, so the head finished up in favour of the Docks.

On another head Fraser's four were lying 3 with but a narrow port open on the back-hand and all approaches on the fore-hand closed. Greig drew well, made the port and succeeded in reducing the lay to 2.

Fraser also drew well, entered the port, cannoned off of Greig's wood, took the shot, and by moving Greig's wood increased the lay to 4. It was certainly good bowling. H. Gittins and L. E. Lammer played good games, but owing to the occasional very good shots of V. Hast and J. Revie it cannot be said that Fraser's rink were superior forward. Fraser and Tacchi were more consistent than Greig and Lindsay, but on the other hand, what luck there was went to the visitors. They produced some very good heads, especially the 18th, which, after measuring, proved to be a "dead head."

Mr. Butler is taking out Wakefield and Mr. Proulx is riding a very useful pony in Tillicum who has previously stayed over a mile. Mr. Botelho is riding Daylight Eve.

Dynasty Entrant Favoured

Don has often disappointed, but he is likely to do something under Mr. Deitz in the Green Island Handicap over a mile, the winner of which should be either King's Bounty (Mr. Botelho) or Soldier of Germany (Mr. Soares), with the odds favouring the Dynasty Candidate.

Prima Donna (Mr. Harrison) at 155 lb. looks dangerous, while Bright Star's fine run behind Oak Bay last Meeting will make him a warm favourite for a place. Mr. Heard has also a sporting chance for Gladiator.

National Day's Chance

Burgomaster is unlikely to start unless it is a wet track, in the July Stakes. National Day is in good condition, and under Mr. Butler may possibly win, though both Powerful King (Mr. Heard) and King's Parade (Mr. Soares) are going to give him a stiff race.

With Warrington not as fit as he might be there appears little else in the field to notice.

Win For Friday?

Mr. Deitz will probably ride Friday to his first win in the Manly Handicap. The pony is bursting with fitness and should beat out St. Joan (Mr. Proulx) and The Goose (Mr. Butler). There is no other pony likely to upset that order.

Fudge May Do It

Helter Skelter's splendid finish under Mr. Black in the Pei Ho Handicap over a longer distance leads one to believe that Mr. Heard will have more than an outside chance on the Helenside pony in the Lama Handicap over a mile.

Fudge is heavily handicapped, but I am confident Mr. Botelho will not be far away at the finish. Gay Butterfly (Mr. Soares) and No Fear (Mr. Proulx) are the other two ponies worth watching.

Cavalcade's 168 lb. will probably prove too great a burden.

RECREIO RETAIN 100 PER CENT.

REMARKABLE RECOVERY BY INDIAN PAIR

CLUB HELD TO DRAW

THE results of yesterday's four "B" Division Lawn Tennis League matches provided no surprises.

The champions, the Chinese Recreation Club, had no difficulty in accounting for the South China Athletic Association, the home team securing only half a set.

The Indian Recreation Club were weaker than expected, and were lucky to share the spoils in their match with the Hong Kong Cricket Club. A splendid rally by Suffiad and Ismail in their last set, when they recovered from 0-5 to 6-6 against Dunham and Traill was the only really bright spot of a dull afternoon's play.

The University's margin over the Graduates' Association was narrower than it should have been, while the Recreio recorded their anticipated win over the Kowloon Cricket Club.

SUFFIAD & ISMAIL RECOVER WELL

Led 5-0 They Level Match At 6-All

DUNHAM AND TRAILL FALTER AND CLUB ONLY DRAW

In a very uninspiring display of tennis the Indian Recreation Club drew with the Hong Kong Cricket Club in their "B" Division Lawn Tennis League match at Sookun-poo yesterday afternoon.

The only outstanding event of the match was the remarkable recovery of Suffiad and Ismail, who in their last set, when led 5-0 by Traill and Dunham, rallied to share the set at 6-all.

Traill and Dunham won the first five games without difficulty, but careless play by both players, and a determined effort by the I.R.C. pair saw the Club's chances of a win dashed.

Traill and Dunham rallied and won their sixth game, but were unable to stem the I.R.C. pair who equalised amid the loud applause of a fair crowd of spectators.

Suffiad and Ismail are a well balance pair, being very rarely outpositioned. Ismail works well on the baseline while Suffiad is excellent at the net.

Traill and Dunham were up to their usual form, except for their fatal lapse. Dunham's powerful service was working well, many aces resulting. Traill played a steady game and showed occasional touches of brilliance at the net.

Pereira's Return

F. D. Pereira made a return to League Tennis yesterday afternoon to partner Hoosen. For his first match this season Pereira did well, although his arm still appeared to be troubling him.

In their set with Traill and Dunham they played well, being down 4-3 before going out at 6-4.

Rumjahn and A. K. Ismail were very shaky pair. Rumjahn bore the brunt of the play, although there were bright touches about some of Ismail's play at the net.

Sewell and Gamble played a steady game with no outstanding moments. Sewell's volleying was good, and Gamble was occasionally in the limelight on the base line.

Bathurst and Pearce played sound rather than brilliant tennis—they accounted for two of the Club's 4½ sets.

Scores: A. K. Suffiad and S. A. Ismail (I.R.C.):—

South China Crushed At Home

STERLING PLAY BY VETERANS

The Chinese Recreation Club recorded their second win in the "B" Division Lawn Tennis League by defeating the South China Athletic Association by 8½ sets to half a set at King's Park yesterday.

L. F. Hon and F. K. Lau, the C.R.C. veterans, were the outstanding pair in the encounter, Lau's steady baseline play and quick and accurate net play being mainly responsible for their easy victories. He often baffled F. N. Wong and K. F. Lui by deep lobbs.

F. N. Wong and K. F. Lui were the best losing combination, steady tennis giving them most of their points.

Scores: F. N. Wong and K. F. Lui (S.C.A.A.):—

lost to L. F. Hon and F. K. Lau 4-6

lost to M. K. Lau and P. F. Choy 4-6

THIRD PAIR WIN FOR RECREIO.

Ribeiro And Silva Surprise.

GRAY AND OPPENHEIM RECOVER WELL

The unexpected success of H. A. Ribeiro and A. M. Silva, who won 2½ sets, enabled the Recreio to beat the Kowloon Cricket Club by 6 sets to 3 at the K.C.C. yesterday in the "B" Division of the Lawn Tennis League.

The Recreio third pair should have won all their sets as in their last set they led S. A. Gray and L. Oppenheim 5-3 and 6-5, but were held to a draw on a double fault.

The net play of A. A. Remedios and Oppenheim provided the features of the match.

JUNIOR TENNIS TO-DAY

Craigengower Visit Indians.

100 PER CENT. RECORD AT STAKE

A full programme of eight "C" Division Lawn Tennis League matches are scheduled for this afternoon.

Perhaps the best match of the afternoon will be the Craigengower Cricket Club and the Indian Recreation Club at Sookunpoo. Both teams are undefeated to date, and have both shown a definite superiority in their contests. The set between Firdos Khan and M. A. Khan (I.R.C.) and Mok and Leonard (C.C.C.) should be the most closely contested of the afternoon.

The champions, the Chinese Recreation Club, should secure an easy victory in their home game against the Army Tennis Club. The Army went down to Craigengower by 6-3, and Jarman and Blacker, who secured the three Army sets in that encounter, should be the only pair to prevent today's game from being a walk-over.

The Kowloon Cricket Club will meet an unknown proposition in the South China A.A., who are making their debut.

The Civil Servants, who trounced a rather feeble Radio team last week, should have no difficulty against the Policemen, who only secured one set against the Indian R.C. at Sookunpoo in their previous match.

The University defeated the Graduates' Association by the narrow margin of 5 sets to 4, at Pokfulam yesterday in their "B" Division Lawn Tennis League match.

TALKIE TALKS

DIANENORMA SHEARER AND MONTGOMERY
TEAM AGAIN IN "RIPTIDE"CICELY COURTNEIDGE MAGNIFICENT IN
"SOLDIERS OF THE KING."

Claudette Colbert In Stirring Drama.

THE Mystery of Mr. X is a play just made for the breezy, nonchalant devil-may-care, charming manner of the star, Robert Montgomery. He dominates the film, as he strolls through the mysteries, solves murders and brings the culprit to justice—all because he has fallen in love with a pretty girl. As "Revel" the diamond thief he is perfect, but a more un-crook-like person could not be imagined.

The story is far-fetched and improbable, telling of the exploits of the hero-thief, turned detective, outwitting the police and winning the girl's heart. There are any amount of thrills, the most exciting moments come when "Revel" dons the uniform of a policeman in order to bait the murderer, and the fight on the moving freight elevator.

Of the support, the best comes from Lewis Stone and Henry Stephenson. I admire the looks of Elizabeth Allan, also her acting, (when she is given a real chance) but her slight Cockney accent still jars on me. Ralph Forbes is not quite up to scratch, Forrester Harvey does a nice "bit" as the Cockney taxi driver. The direction of Edgar Selwyn is capable, but I do not know why there should be errors in the geography of London, and in some of the details of the Court scene.

He treats the film in a light and airy manner with a strong flavouring of romance. The film is heartily recommended as it gives Mr. Montgomery such excellent opportunities, and this actor is one of the most popular film stars.

I guarantee this to be a film which will hold your attention from first to last. (Queen's).

"Bottoms Up" is the first Hollywood release of the new Fox attraction, Pat Patterson, (who recently married Charles Boyer, famous French star). We saw her previously in "Bitter Sweet." With Hollywood grooming, Miss Patterson should go far. Her accent is what is termed the International voice, so soothing to the ear.

The story starts well, but fades away into nothingness, and the finish is absurd. John Boles makes a remark to the famous directors which is rather apt, as far as his part is concerned, "One more role like this, and I will be on the outside of the studio, looking in."

Except that it gives him a chance to be a bit of a comedian in the one good number, "Waiting at the Gate for Katie," John Boles has no chance, and there are few actors better, when given parts like "Seed" and "Back Street."

Herbert Mundin and Sid Silvers contribute to the humour, with Spencer Tracy, just a little wasted as the racketeer who puts over the two "down-and-outs" as an English Lord and his daughter. Thelma Todd looks like a Greek goddess as usual, and delivers the same lines she is given so often. Miss Patterson rather lets herself down in the impression of an English girl imitating an American, but otherwise, she is natural, pretty, and not too coy, and is one of the best "bits" the British studios have sent for probable Hollywood Stardom. This comedy with music is well worth seeing. (King's).

"You Can't Have Everything" Embittered by a broken love affair in her youth, the heiress to a great fortune pours all her forces into the accumulation of more wealth, and the fierce hoarding of what she has, until a day comes when money ceases to be important. This is the outline of the story "You Can't Have Everything," which is reminiscent of the famous stage and screen success "Mother's Millions."

The wonderful Australian actress, May Robson, again charms with her undoubted skill and in-

Seriously III

This smiling picture of Mrs. Wallace Berry, wife of the film star, was made when she visited New York recently. Mrs. Berry is now in a Los Angeles hospital in a serious condition. She collapsed after a heart attack.

Will Rogers, leading screen comedian, as he appears in "David Harum," a forthcoming attraction at the King's Theatre. His latest role is considered his best since "Connecticut Yankee."

good deal of adventure and pathos, and a rousing climax.

David Manners and Vince Barnett are the best among the support. I think, when a film is not a super outstanding production that the management would be wise to "run" two pictures at the same time. There would not be so many "kicks" coming if the "fans" had the choice of two films. I can't say that this one in particular is worth writing home about. There are a few thrills, and the cast work is good. (King's).

"Riptide"

When a truly GREAT feature film like "Riptide" comes, with the welcome re-appearance of the great talkie actress, Norma Shearer, THEN—that picture can stand alone. It is showing in London now, and despite unusually warm weather is drawing crowded houses.

Norma Shearer is in a class by herself and the cast is above reproach. Robert Montgomery, Herbert Marshall, the late Lilyan Tashman and Mrs. Patrick Campbell are there, to mention a few.

Edmund Goulding wrote and directed the film. Coming shortly to the Queen's.

The much-advertised Goldwyn Soviet Star, Anna Sten, in Zola's famous story, re-titled "Nana" is also coming to the Queen's. Lionel Atwill, Phillips Holmes and Mae Clark help the star in a great production. Both these should be on Your MUST SEE list.

"The Girl in Room 419" brings hospital romance, when Gloria Stuart unconscious from a gangster beating, catches the phlegmatic eye of the surgeon, Jimmy Dunn. Jack la Rue and William Harrigan are the gangsters who try to silence her, and there is a

A picture for which we have all anxiously awaited the return is the British film "Soldiers of the King." Cicely Courtneidge is magnificent in the double role of "Jenny and Maïse Marvella," the famous music-hall turn. Edward Everett Horton, Anthony Bushell and pretty Dorothy Hyson count most in the support, but Miss Courtneidge alone is worth one's money. She gives us everything, singing, dancing, humour and tears. Don't miss this at the Star.

It will be followed by Laurel and Hardy, in "Sons of the Desert," grand humour about the troubles which two comedians find themselves sharing when they want to attend a Lodge Meeting, and tell their wives they have to go to Honolulu. You will appreciate this too at a second showing. (Star).

"Moulin Rouge" is piquant comedy with a theatrical background, and it provides Constance Bennett with her finest opportunity in a long while. This is her first release under the Twentieth Century banner, and they have borrowed Franchot Tone from Metro, and given the Italian, Tullio Carminali, a suitable role as the impresario. Constance plays the double role of wife and actress, and scores heavily. She sings, too, as well as she did in "What Price Hollywood." Her gowns are a dream. The songs, "Boulevard of Broken Dreams" and "Coffee in the morning and kisses in the night," are catchy. Russ Colombo (famous crooner) and the Boswell Sisters help the star with her numbers.

The story is interesting, Franchot Tone is one of the most delightful acquisitions the stage has given us in many years and Constance is at her best—so you are in for a really delightful evening at either the Alhambra, Kowloon, or the World, Hong Kong.

Short Shots
Lilyan Tashman had only just completed her last film, "Frankie and Johnnie," with Helen Morgan, when she went to hospital, and had the fatal operation.

David Manners has left London and returned to Hollywood. The way artists are commuting these days between Elstree and Hollywood is amazing.

Mr. and Mrs. Merian C. Cooper (Dorothy Jordan) have a daughter, born in Honolulu.

Ruth Chatterton and George Brent are divorced, and Brent has re-signed with Warner's, while Ruth is out of a job.

Edna Best has left for London to take divorce proceedings against Herbert Marshall. The lady in the case—is about to divorce her fourth husband—so then at least two out of four will be happy. It seems sad to read old magazines about "One Marriage Hollywood cannot spoil"—and now Mrs. Marshall and baby daughter are alone in London.

Clark Gable netted $11,000 on his week's personal appearance at the Capitol Theatre in New York.

Basil Dean who was divorced by his first wife (daughter of the Countess of Warwick) is about to marry his new star—the girl he made famous in "The Constant Nymph"—the little girl from Vancouver, Victoria Hopper. They are to be married in this month.

Charles Farrell will make a film in London soon, and is taking his wife with him. Sydney Lanfield, the director of "Moulin Rouge" has also gone to London to direct Jack Buchanan and Lili Damita in "Sons of Guns."

George Arliss will make a film in England in August for G.B. Film Co.

Douglas Fairbanks, Merle Oberon, Joan Gardner and Benita Hume have almost finished the super production of "The Private Life of Don Juan."

A new version of "Carmen" is to be produced by Columbia, with Grace Moore in the title role.

Martha Sleeper has married Hardie Albright at Hollywood.

Billie Dove (Mrs. Robert Kenaston) has a son.

MARRIEDUnique Ceremony On Liner "Lurline."

FROM CONVENT TO SCREEN

Miss Raquel Torres, 24-year-old Mexican film star, and Mr. Stephen Ames, a New York broker, formerly husband of Mrs. Adrienne Ames, the film actress, were recently married in Los Angeles aboard the liner Lurline, which called at Hong Kong on her world tour.

"Eight bells" from the bridge provided the wedding chimes, and within a few minutes the vessel was on her way to Honolulu where the honeymoon was spent.

Although elaborately planned beforehand the ceremony had to be hurried along owing to delay caused by the non-appearance of the bridegroom's brother, who was to have been best man.

At the last moment the ceremony was performed without him.

No sooner had the couple completed their vows and embraced before a battery of cameras than sirens sounded for the ship to start on her voyage. The guests, who included Al Jolson, Claudette Colbert, Bebe Daniels and Fredric March had to rush for the tender to take them ashore.

Raquel Torres left a Los Angeles convent to enter the films five years ago, and made her name in "White Shadows of the South Seas."

BRITISH ACTRESS?

New York.
WHEN Miss Joan Crawford obtains her final decree of divorce from Mr. Douglas Fairbanks jun. she should—according to accepted rumours in Hollywood—immediately take a new husband, Mr. Franchot Tone, a young man from Cornell University who says he has proposed to her.

But Joan declares that she has other ideas.

"An actress," she said, "should never marry. I am convinced of that. It is better to say now that I shall not marry and to cause a small hurt than to say 'Yes' and cause a greater hurt later on."

"A career and marriage simply do not mix."

Mr. Crawford expressed the belief that Mr. Fairbanks jun. will marry Miss Gertrude Lawrence, the British actress.

MAKING FILMS IN LONDON

Laura la Plante, the American film star, and Mr. Irving Asher, an American producer in London, said that it was "too soon" to report their engagement, rumours of which have been heard.

"It is a little premature to say we are engaged," Mr. Asher said. "These rumours are definitely a little quick. We have been friends for fourteen years. We started at Hollywood at the same time. I was an assistant director, and she was at a studio doing small parts and crowd work."

Miss La Plante is now making films at Mr. Asher's studios at Teddington.

FATHER AND SON
REUNITEDStrange Meeting In America.

APART FOR 40 YEARS

Sterling, Illinois.

Forty years ago, when he was four years old, George C. Thompson, now an employee of the Western Union Telegraph Company, was kidnapped from his grandmother's garden here, by a stranger who, after showing him some marbles, seized him, placed him in a buggy and drove away.

He has just been reunited with his 70-year old father, whom he long-believed to be dead. The father is a pensioner of the International Harvester Company and has resided in Sterling for 50 years.

Mr. Thompson told how his mother, who had previously deserted the family, later joined the stranger. He said that he remembered being brought to Chicago by train and living there with his mother until she died two years later, George, himself, was later run over by a car and lost a leg. He was cared for in an endowment home and lost track of his relatives.

Recently, he heard a message being filed to Sterling and thought to tell the sender of his early life there. The story of Thompson's hunt for his relatives reached the Sterling Daily Gazette, and a neighbour of Mr. Charles Thompson, the father, called his attention to the newspaper story as being connected with his son.—Renter.

Germany And Her Obligations.

That there should be scepticism among her foreign creditors as to Germany's inability to pay any of her external obligations can scarcely be a matter for surprise to the Germans themselves. Herr Hitler's domestic programme has already involved an enormous expenditure and contemplates a very much larger amount for the future. Spending on development programmes involving large purchases of raw materials from abroad has swallowed the export surplus, and in the first three months of this year Germany has had an import surplus. The foreign creditors, who have watched the process by which the obligations to themselves have been placed second to the ambitious schemes of Herr Hitler, will not accept without very careful examination the bald statement of Dr. Schacht that Germany cannot find the foreign currency to meet her obligations. The grave view that the British Government takes of a proposal to apply a transfer moratorium to the Dawes and Young Loans should ensure that the position will be given a probing examination by the representatives of her creditors now meeting in Berlin.

Dr. Schacht, in a recent speech, laid it down that Germany's ability to pay in the future can come only from two sources. The one is an increase in Germany's exports by the revival of world trade, and the other by a decrease in interest payments. He recognises that much of the shrinkage in export trade is due to political causes. The protest against the Nazi anti-Jewish policy is only now having its full effects in the refusal in many countries to buy German goods. Since policy is a matter that can be changed at will, creditors cannot be expected to accept that fact as an excuse, or the needs of the internal expansionist programme of the German Government as a reason why German faith should not be kept. We recognise that Germany has difficulties, as has every other country, in meeting obligations in a world that will not receive payment in goods. But Germany's policy in various directions has been specially calculated to bring her to the crisis that she now announces.

Whichever of her international obligations she is unable to meet, the Dawes and Young Loans stand on a special footing. These were advanced to Germany to enable her to pay a part of her indebtedness. The sums that Germany could pay were fixed after the most careful expert investigation into her resources. If those resources have dwindled, the known reasons make the German plea of inability to pay difficult of ready acceptance. Some further moratorium may have to be accepted, but there can be no further whitening away of obligations. These must be met, at any rate, in credits accumulating in Germany, if they cannot be paid in the foreign currencies in which they are due. Germany cannot complain that her creditors find the picture painted too dark in its colouring, for the stage has been openly prepared for this latest instalment of default.

Advance In Air Travel.

Within the next few months the last link in the air route to the Antipodes will be bridged, and it will be possible to fly from London to Brisbane. For Imperial Airways, whose policy from the first has been to establish the great Imperial routes, there will remain but one major problem to solve. The Canadian service is still an aspiration. One day it too will function, though at present we can but guess whether it will take the Arctic land-route or fly the obstacle of 3,000 miles of open sea.

Meanwhile new possibilities of air travel are opening up. Hitherto the main attack has been on the great distances. Now the aeroplane's immense advantage in speed is beginning to prove effective on the short routes. The British railways are planning a series of internal services within the confines of Great Britain, and in India a very remarkable project is to be submitted to Government. Calcutta and Bombay are over 1,000 miles apart, and the railway journey between them takes two nights and the intervening day. It is proposed to start an air service to cover the distance within twelve hours, and what is particularly striking, to cover it at night. Thus an air-sleeper will link the two chief industrial cities of India, to the great convenience of business men.

Nothing New

An American editor enumerating the nefarious inventions which gangsters have introduced into the States, attributed to Al Capone the device of the sawn-off gun.

The sawn-off gun is at least a hundred years old, and probably much older.

For example, in a letter dated December 9, 1820, from Ravenna, to John Murray, Byron describes how the Military Commandant was shot down in the street before Byron's house.

Byron rushed out. He saw no trace of the assassin, but he found the weapon. It was a gun fired down to half the barrel.

The incident is introduced into the fifth canto of "Don Juan."

Mae West Is Surprised

The sawn-off gun is not the only device which Americans wrongly claim as their invention.

When Miss Mae West was in London recently, she was very proud of the title of her film "I'm No Angel." She attributed it to the genius of the caption experts of Hollywood.

She was surprised when a British author pointed out to her that it was lifted straight from Thackeray's "Vanity Fair."

The first "I'm No Angel" was Becky Sharp.

Two Methods

An American banker who is on a visit to Great Britain went to luncheon the other day with one of the big British bankers.

During the meal the American talked with some feeling about the hard time bankers were having in New York. "Do you know," he said, "the Government even sent a special man from Washington to go into my income-tax figures, and he was five days on the job."

His English host listened politely. "We do things differently over here," he said. "My interview with my income-tax inspector never last more than a quarter of an hour. If they did I should ring up Somerset House and complain that an official was wasting his time, my time and the nation's money."

Australians And Alcohol

In 1930 the prowess of the Australian cricketers was ascribed by teetotal propagandists to the fact that they were abstainers.

This year's Tests will contribute no such plank to the Pussyfoot platform.

Bruce Harris, writing from the any rate, not more than three or liner Orford, states that at sea, at four of the 16 are total abstainers. Woodfull, who at a cocktail, than orange-juice, has few out-party drinks nothing stronger and-out followers.

This does not, of course, imply that the Australians go to the lot, well knowing the virtues of other extreme. They are a sober moderation.

Your Daily Smile!

"That author fellow has had a story accepted at last," remarked one man to another. "Surely not!" was the rejoinder. "Yes. He went home at two o'clock this morning with an awful yawn, and his wife believed it."

Family Traits: Tommy has his father's mouth, his mother's eyes, and his brother's trousers.

DOMESTIC DIALOGUE

"Do you allow your wife to have the last word?"

"She hasn't come to it yet."

A young girl went to India to spend a holiday with friends. The first letter her mother received from her ended:—"Excuse this awful scribble, but I'm in a frightful hurry to catch the mail."

"I must have $500 by to-night, or I'll shoot myself! Can you help me?" "Sorry. I haven't a gun!"

Comedian: "The last time I appeared in panto the people could be heard roaring with laughter a mile away." Producer: "Really! What was on here?"

"I'm smoking a terrible lot of cigars these days." "You certainly are if that's one of them."

THIS DICTATORSHIP ROMANCE

'BLACKSHIRTS' SET LEAD IN BRITAIN

ENTHUSIASM REKINDLED

(By Viscount Rothermere.)

London. COMMON sense is the essential foundation of every successful political crusade. It supplies the explanation of the present swift spread of the Blackshirt Movement.

Mosley is giving the nation the lead. It has long been waiting for. Keen Conservatives and sincere Socialists alike are rallying to him because his case for better and more vigorous government carries conviction to every patriotic mind in Britain.

The rousing eloquence and realist arguments of the Blackshirt Leader have rekindled the embers of political enthusiasm that had been choked by the ashes of inertia. Mosley has set the whole country thinking, talking, hoping. For a parallel to the huge and enthusiastic meetings which await him everywhere throughout the land one has to go back to the great oratorical campaigns of Gladstone two generations ago.

A Practical Programme

The vast audiences that he has addressed since the beginning of this year in the Albert Hall, London, and at Birmingham, Bristol, Cardiff, Carlisle, Dumfries, Leeds, Manchester, Preston, and York, heard something entirely different from the conventional speech of a party politician, with its glib generalities, its evasion of all difficult issues, its stereotyped appeal to "party loyalty."

They found themselves listening to a man who has studied deeply the new conditions with which this country has to cope. Mosley sets out the facts of our economic and international position—fully, plainly, and without prejudice. Then he expounds the plans of the Blackshirt Movement for dealing with these problems. His programme is practical, concrete, resolute, and effective.

With surprised relish his hearers discover that Mosley is putting into words the deepest political aspirations of their own hearts, and not only that, but pointing out the way to achieve them.

Dangers Of Socialism

Alone among the leaders of public life in this country, he fearlessly faces hard facts and lays down lines of energetic action for meeting them. To the younger generation of British voters, who now form a full half of the electorate, Mosley is the prophet of their own generation who both knows what they want and how to get it.

It is no wonder that his whirlwind campaign is causing acute apprehension to the complacent, elderly politicians under whose ineffectual leadership the country is steadily drifting towards the deadly risks of Socialist rule.

The leaders of the National Government can advance no criticism of his policy, for it is sound, common-sense, Conservative doctrine that Mosley preaches, and if the present Government had fulfilled the mission with which the country entrusted it, many of its main features would already have been realised.

False Ideas Are Current

In their attempts to cover up their own deficiencies and to silence this new voice which has found so true an echo in the hearts of the country's youth, they try to discredit the Blackshirt Movement by attributing to it ridiculous aims which form no part of its programme.

Prominent among these baseless charges is the bogus allegation that Mosley proposes to establish in Britain a dictatorship on some foreign model. With almost pathetic persistence this red herring is constantly drawn across the hot scent upon which Blackshirt enthusiasm for a vigorous policy has started the young men and women of our country in full cry.

To anyone who has heard, or even read the magnificent speeches in which Sir Oswald Mosley defines his purpose, such an accusation seems simply nonsensical.

Parlour Bolshevism

The Blackshirt Leader is far too shrewd a man to believe that the British national can ever be dragged into any course of action against its will. The only contemporary politician who is definitely aiming at a dictatorship is that rather ludicrous figure, Sir Stafford Cripps.

This former Solicitor-General of a Socialist Government, who hopes to become a Socialist Prime Minister, has plainly stated his intention of converting his authority into a dictatorship directly he can dupe the country into entrusting him with office. He proposes to do so by means of an Emergency Powers Bill, which would be rushed through all its Parliamentary stages on the first day the new House of Commons met. Any opposition, however constitutional, would be ruthlessly overruled. "The capitalists," says Sir Stafford Cripps, who uses that word as a term of abuse for all who differ from him, "would have to yield. If they did not, the Socialist Government . . . would be justified in overriding any obstruction it found placed in the way."

His rival for the post of Supreme Commissioner in Britain, Mr. G. D. H. Cole, who preaches parlour-Bolshevism at Oxford University, has been even more outspoken:

"Nor can we put limits," he says, "to the degree of dictatorial power which, under stress of the emergency, our Socialist Government may have to assume."

It is from this danger of a Socialist dictatorship that the country is beginning to see in Sir Oswald Mosley its only chance of salvation. This is not all. Many young members of Parliament are looking to him to liberate them from that other velleed but tyrannical dictatorship which, under our present regime, the Front Bench exercises over its followers.

Back Bench members, some of whom have made considerable sacrifices to enter public life for the purpose of serving their country, find themselves condemned to the permanent condition of Parliamentary robots, with functions limited to walking through the Government division lobby. All their attempts to catch the Speaker's eye are vain, for, on every important question, the decision as to who shall be called upon to speak rests almost entirely with the Ministerial Whips.

MURDERED ELEVEN WOMEN

Indian "Jack The Ripper" Caught.

HUNTED FOR SEVEN YEARS

Hyderabad (Deccan).

Hunted by the police for seven years to answer charges of murder, Gulam Hussain, a middle-aged Muslim who is described as a local "Jack the Ripper" has at last been arrested by the police of Omandabad district.

He is standing his trial before the Divisional Magistrate of Latur. Hussain is alleged to have committed 11 murders during the last seven years. All the victims were women.

It is alleged that Hussain worked with the thoroughness of "Jack the Ripper," appearing from nowhere and disappearing as mysteriously leaving no traces behind. But unlike that notorious character, Hussain is said to have operated in broad daylight, generally between two and four in the afternoon, added assault and robbery to homicidal acts, with the result that girls of tender age and old women lived in constant dread of him.—Reuter.

CRAWFORD TO MEET
VON CRAMMBoussus Takes Set Off Holder.

Jack Crawford, the Australian holder of the title, will meet Von Cramm, Germany's No. 1 ranking player, in the Final of the French Lawn Tennis Championship at Autecul.

Yesterday Crawford eliminated C. Boussus, who beat Austin in the Semi-final, while Von Cramm eliminated de Stefani, the Italian player who beat Perry in the quarter-finals.

Britain's only hopes now rest on Miss Margaret Scriven, who is defending the woman's title against the challenge of Helen Jacobs, the American national champion.

Britain's remaining mixed doubles pair, G. P. Hughes and Miss Betty Nuthall, were defeated in the semi-final of the Mixed Doubles by Jean Borotra and Mlle. Rosambert.

Results as cabled by Reuter were: MEN'S SINGLES—SEMI FINALS: J. A. Crawford (Australia) beat C. Boussus (France) 6-3, 2-6, 7-5, 6-4. Von Cramm (Germany) beat de Stefani (Italy) 3-6, 6-4, 6-1, 3-6, 6-2. MIXED DOUBLE—SEMI FINAL: J. Borotra and Mlle. Rosambert (France) beat G. P. Hughes and Miss B. Nuthall (Britain) 6-2, 6-8, 8-6. WOMEN'S SINGLES—SEMI FINAL: Miss M. Scriven (Britain) beat Fr. Aussem (Germany) 7-5, 6-3. Miss H. Jacobs (U.S.A.) beat Mme. Mathieu (France) 6-2, 6-2.

STOEFFEN PLAYS
IN DOUBLES.America Beat Mexico
In Davis Cup.

Baltimore, To-day. The United States eliminated Mexico in their Davis Cup North American Zone Final here yesterday by three matches to nil when Lester Stoeffen, who replaced John Van Ryn, and George M. Lott defeated Ricardo Tapia and Mestre 6-4 6-4 and 6-4.

America won their two singles matches on Wednesday when Sydney Wood beat Esteban Reyes 6-3, 6-2, 6-2, and Lester Stoeffen beat Ricardo Tapia 6-2, 6-3, 6-1.

The American team which also includes Frank X. Shields, No. 1 ranking player, will proceed direct to Europe after to-day's remaining two singles matches, Brazil and Peru, the other American teams, having withdrawn from the contest. —Reuter.

AUSTRALIANS AGAIN COLLAR
THE BOWLING

Sandham lifted a ball over the ropes and hit 22 boundaries in an attractive knock that lasted 371 minutes.

Stanley McCabe, who scored 185, was not seen at his best, giving numerous chances against the fast bowling of Holmes and Gover. He hit 21 boundaries in his undefeated knock that lasted 275 minutes.

PONSFORD'S FINE INNINGS Ponsford, on the other hand, played brilliant all-round cricket for 160 minutes, hitting 17 boundaries in his 125. He scored a "duck" in his previous game against Middlesex.

DON BRADMAN SCORED QUICKLY from the start, his 77, which included 11 boundaries, being compiled in 75 minutes. Bradman had scored 160 against Middlesex in his previous innings.

The match will be concluded to-day at 5 p.m. in order to give the tourists as much rest as possible before their game against Lancashire at Old Trafford to-morrow.

NOTE BY 'CRICKETER' Sandham, Surrey's veteran opening batsman, is 44 years old. Although he started last season well he was early forced out of the game on account of an injury, and latterly showed signs of falling off.

In his first match last season, against Hampshire, he carried his bat for 169. This was his only three-figure innings last year, and though he had an average of 34, he only just topped the 1,000 runs.

Sandham has now scored 94 centuries in first-class cricket. He played against Australia in the 1921 Oval Test, and played in the two Sydney Tests with A. E. R. Gilligan's team in the 1924-5 series. 169.561

Beautiful "Queen Of The Galapagos."

Guayaquil, Ecuador.—The first picture to be published of the Baroness Eloisa Bousquet de Wagner, self-styled "Queen of the Galapagos" about whose life another weird chapter has recently been told. The Baroness arrived at Guayaquil about two years ago and requested, and received, permission to make "scientific" experiments on Floreana Island, one of the Galapagos group. Since then nothing has been heard of her since November 24 when a young couple, Pablo Rolando and his bride the former Blanca Rosa Fernandez landed here after having been rescued from an open boat in which they were drifting, without food or shelter, Rolando told how he and his wife were passengers on a honeymoon trip aboard the yacht "Santa Rosa" when the vessel was overtaken and wrecked by a storm, when off the Galapagos. The Rolandos took to a boat and were finally washed up on the beach of Floreana Island. As they ascended the beach, Rolando says, members of the "Queen's" strange court, consisting of European men, well-dressed and heavily armed came running down to meet them. Rolando, his wife and three sailors were tied hand and foot, jalled by order of the Baroness and then cast off the island to drift to their death in an open craft, without water or food. Luckily they were picked up by the clipper ship "Fortune" which brought them to Guayaquil.

NEW COLONY CLUB.
For Canadian Returned Chinese.

A new Club will be formed in the Colony when a group of young Canadian returned Chinese, headed by Mr. Lee Y. Tong, of the Chinese Department of the Canadian Pacific Railway, will gather for the first time at a swimming party on Sunday afternoon.

A circular, issued last night by Mr. Lee, states that the new Club will for the moment devote its time to social activities, and that later on the Club will extend other beneficial privileges and services.

Its initial meeting will take the form of a swimming party for which a launch has been hired.

It is hoped that a large number of Canadian returned students will support the new venture, and those who are interested are requested to communicate with Mr. Lee to-day.

WOMAN'S LYSOL POISONING

Carrying only one small handbag, the woman took a room on the top floor of the 7-storey hotel, remaining alone throughout the night. Sometime after 10.30 the next morning the hotel boy received no answer to his knock. The door was then opened with a duplicate key and the woman was found lying on the bed in an unconscious condition. She was immediately sent to the Government Civil Hospital, but died at 1 p.m.

Hung Ng Kue, who is said to be married, formerly resided at 46 Elgin Street.

KENT 803 FOR 4

Kent's total is by no means a record, as in the 1899 season Surrey totalled 811 against Somerset at the Oval, while in 1896 Yorkshire scored 887 against Warwickshire at Edgbaston.

The world's first-class aggregate record is held by Victoria, who totalled 1107 against New South Wales at Melbourne in the 1926-7 season.

In the 1929-30 Test between England and the West Indies at Kingston, England scored 849.

Ashdown, by scoring 338, made the highest total of his career. He was the first English batsman to score a century this season.

Loelle Ames, England's stumper-batsman, has given evidence of having fully recovered from his operation for appendicitis, with scores of 80 and 108, and now 202 not out.

Ernest Tyldesley has scored 89, 100 not out, 51, and 238 in his last four innings—an average of 169.561

To-day's Short Story.

THE ETHICS
OF PIGBy O.
Henry.

ON an east-bound train I went into the smoker and found Jefferson Peters, the only man with a brain west of the Wabash River who can use his cerebrum cerebellum and medulla oblongata at the same time.

Jeff is in the line of unillegitimate graft. He is not to be dreaded by widows and orphans; he is a reducer of surplusage. His favourite disguise is that of the target-bird at which the spendthrift or the reckless investor may shy a few inconsequential dollars. He is readily vocalized by tobacco; so, with the aid of two thick and easy-burning brevas, I got the story of his latest Autolycean adventure.

"In my line of business," said Jeff, "the hardest thing is to find an upright, trustworthy, strictly honourable partner to graft with. Some of the best men I ever worked with in a swindle would resort to trickery at times."

"So, last summer, I thinks I will go over into this section of country where I hear the serpent has not yet entered, and see if I can find a partner naturally gifted with a talent for crime, but not yet contaminated by success."

"I found a village that seemed to show the right kind of a layout. The inhabitants hadn't found out that Adam had been dispossessed, and were going right along naming the animals and killing snakes just as if they were in the Garden of Eden. They call this town Mount Nebo, and it's up near the spot where Kentucky and West Virginia and North Carolina corner together. Then States don't meet. Well, it was in that neighbourhood, anyway."

"After putting in a week proving I wasn't a revenue officer, I went over to the store where the rude fourflushers of the hamlet lied, to see if I could get a line on the kind of man I wanted."

"Gentlemen," says I, after we had rubbed noses and gathered around the dried-apple barrel. "I don't suppose there's another community in the whole world into which sin and chicanery has less extensively permeated than this. Life here, where all the women are brave and propitious and all the men honest and expedient, must, indeed, be an idol. It reminds me," says I, "of Goldstein's beautiful ballad entitled 'The Deserted Village,' which says:

"I'll fare the land, to hastening ills a prey;

TO-MORROW'S STORY

To-morrow's story will be "Seven," by Aino Kallas."

What art can drive its charms away?

The judge rode slowly down the lane, mother,

For I'm to be Queen of the May."

"Why, yes, Mr. Peters," says the storekeeper. "I reckon we air about as moral and torpid a community as there be on the mountain, according to censuses of opinion; but I reckon you ain't ever met Rufe Tatum."

"Why, no," says the town constable, "he can't hardly have ever. That air Rufe is shore the monstrous scalawag that has escaped hangin' on the galluses. And that puts me in mind that I ought to have turned Rufe out of the lock-up day before yesterday. The 30 days he got for killin' Yance Goodloe was up then. A day or two more won't hurt Rufe any, though."

"Shucks, now," says I, in the mountain idiom, "don't tell me there's a man in Mount Nebo as bad as that."

"Worse," says the storekeeper. "He steals hogs."

"I think I will look up this Mr. Tatum; so a day or two after the constable turned hi mout I got acquainted with him and invited him out on the edge of town to sit on a log and talk business."

"What I wanted was a partner with a natural rural make-up to play a part in some little one-act outrages hat I was going to book with the Pitfall and Gin circuit in some of the Western towns; and this R. Tatum was born for the role as sure as nature cast Fairbanks for the stuff that kept Eliza from sinking into the river."

"He was about the size of a first base-man, and he had ambiguous blue eyes like the china dog on the mantelpiece, that Aunt Harriet used to play with when she was a child. His hair waved a little bit like the statue of the dinkthrower in the Vacation at Rome, but the colour of it reminded you of the 'Sunset in the Grand Canon, by an American Artist,' that they hang over the stove-pipe holes in the saloons. He was the Reub, without needing a touch. You'd have known him for one, even if you'd seen him on the vaudeville stage with one cotton suspender and a straw over his ear."

"I told him what I wanted, and found him ready to jump at the job. 'Overlooking such a trivial little peccadillo as the habit of manslaughter,' says I, 'what have you accomplished in the way of indirect brigandage or non-actionable thriftiness that that you could point to, with or without pride, as an evidence of your qualifications for the position?'"

"Why," says he, in his kind of Southern system of procrastinated accents, "hain't you heard tell? There ain't any man, black or white, in the Blue Ridge that can tote off a shoot as easy as I can without bein' heard, seen, or cotched. I can lift a shoot; he goes on, out of a pen, from under a porch, at the trough, in the woods, day or night, anywhere or anyhow, and I guarantee nobody won't hear a squeal. It's all in the way you grab hold of 'em and carry 'em afterwards. Some day," goes on this gentle despoiler of pig-pens, "I hope to become reckoned as the champion shoot-stealer of the world."

Mr. G. S. Archbutt, Fire Manager of the Union Insurance Society of Canton, Ltd., was among the passengers on the R. M. S. Empress of Japan which left to-day.

"I intended to assume a funnel shape and mow a path nine miles wide through the farming belt of the Middle West; so we headed in that direction. But when we got as far as Lexington - we found Binkley Brothers' circus there, and the blue-grass peasantry romping into town and - pounding the Belgian blocks with their hand-pegged sabots as artless and arbitrary as an extra session of a Datto Bryan duma. I never pass a circus without pulling the valve-cord and coming down for a little Key West money; so I engaged a couple of rooms and board for Rufe and me at a house near the circus grounds run by a widow lady named Peevy.

"They were the first clothes Rufe had ever worn except the ginghams, layette and the butternut top-dressing of his native kraal, and he looked as self-conscious as a Igorrote with a new nose-ring.

"That night I went down to the circus tents and opened a small shell game. Rufe was to be the capper. I gave him a roll of phonocurrency to bet with and kept a bunch of it in a special pocket to pay his winnings out of. No, I didn't mislead him; but I simply can't manipulate the ball to lose. When I see real money bet, I always go on a strike every time."

"I set up my little table and ran to show them how easy it was to guess which shell the little

"Now, don't be too hard on me," Jeff says he. "You know how tough I've been used to stealin' top-shots. It's got to be a habit a-sin, and me." And to-night "when I catch such a fine chance" I couldn't help takin' it.

"Well," says I, "maybe you're really got kleptopigria. And maybe he when we get out of the pig pen you'll turn your mind to high art and more remunerative misdoings." No, I duct. Why you should want to simply stain your soul with such a tasteless, feeble-minded, perverted roarin' beast, as that I can't understand.

"Why, Jeff," says he, "you're and be in sympathy with shades of it, was don't understand 'em like I do."

This Government despotism is based on party funds, and its exercise has done great harm to the country's interests in the past. The creation of the Irish Free State in 1921 was an example of what can be accomplished by the dictatorship of the party in power, without any mandate from the country or appeal to the electorate. By similar means the destruction of British rule in India is even now being brought about, against the profound convictions of the greater part of the supporters of the National Government in the House of Commons. There is grave danger that irreparable harm may be done to the Empire by the use of this Front Bench dictatorship to force through Parliament the fatal policy of the Government's White Paper. The success of the Blackshirt Movement means the liberation of British youth from the inert but heavy hand of elderly politicians. While extensions of the franchise have included so many young men and women that 50 per cent. of the voters are under 35, political authority in this country is exercised by a Cabinet whose average age is nearly 60, and most of whose members are old even for that age. Though the electorate has become youthful, it is still under the same kind of political control as when the vote was mainly limited to the elderly.

What The Young Think

How can these men, whose best years ended with the war, know what the young people of Britain are thinking and feeling? Mosley knows, for though he has 15 years' active experience in politics and has held high office in the State, he is still only 38.

There is now hope for our country since the Blackshirt Movement started on its triumphant career under the inspiration of this brilliant young man. He has all the gifts requisite for his great task. As a thinker on all economic and political subjects he is keen, objective, and of the highest intelligence. He is the most brilliant orator that Britain has heard for a generation. To those who still hesitate to approve the Blackshirt cause, I say: Do not let yourselves be set against it by boggy-talk about dictatorship. Study Mosley's speeches, and, above all, do not miss an opportunity of hearing him.

Then, like the scores of thousands who have already had that memorable experience, you will realise that Britain has found at last a new leader of genius.

THE ETHICS OF PIG

This here seems to me to be an animal of more than common powers of ration and intelligence. He walked half across the room on his hind legs a while ago."

"Well, I'm going back to bed," says I. "See if you can impress it upon your friend's ideas of intelligence that he's not to make so much noise."

"He was hungry," says Rufe. "He'll go to sleep and keep quiet now."

"I always get up before breakfast and read the morning paper whenever I happen to be within the radius of a Hoe cylinder or a Washington hand-press. The next morning I got up early and found a Lexington daily on the front porch where the carrier had thrown it. The first thing I saw in it was a double-column ad, on the front page that read like this:

FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS REWARD.

The above amount will be paid, and no questions asked, for the return, alive and uninjured, of Beppo, the famous European educated pig, that strayed or was stolen from the side-show tents of Binkley Bros.' circus last night.

GEO. B. TAPLEY,

Business Manager,

At the Circus Grounds.

"I folded up the paper flat, put it into my inside pocket, and went to Rufe's room. He was nearly dressed, and was feeding the pigs with the rest of the milk and some apple-peelings.

"Well, well, well, good morning all," I says, hearty and amiable. "So we are up? And piggy is having his breakfast. What had you intended doing with that pig, Rufe?"

"I'm going to crate him up," says Rufe, "and express him to me in Mount Nebo. He'll be company for her while I am away."

"He's a mighty fine pig," says I, scratching him on the back.

"You called him a lot of names last night," says Rufe.

"Oh, well," says I, "he looks better to me this morning. I was raised on a farm, and I'm very fond of pigs. I used to go to bed at sundown, so I never saw one by lamplight before. Tell you what I'll do, Rufe, I says, 'I'll give you ten dollars for that pig.'"

"I reckon I wouldn't sell this shoat," says he. "If it was any other one I might."

"Why not this one?" I asked, fearful that he might know something.

"Why, because," says he, "it was the grandest achievement of my life. There ain't airy other man that could have done it. If I ever have a firsided and children, I'll sit beside it and tell 'em how their daddy toted off a shoat from a whole circus full of people. And maybe my grandchildren, too. They'll certainly be proud a whole passel. Why," says he, "there was two tents, one open in the other. This shoat was on a platform, tied with a little chain. I see a giant and a lady, with a fine chance of bushy white hair in the other tent."

"I got the shoat, and crawled out from under the canvas again without him squeakin' as loud as a mouse. I put him under my coat, and I must have passed a hundred folks before I got out where the streets was dark. I reckon I wouldn't sell that shoat, Jeff. I'd want ma to keep it, so there'd be a witness to what I done."

"The pig won't live long enough," I says, "to use as an exhibit in your senile firsided mends city. Your grandchildren will give you one hundred dollars for the animal."

"Rufe looked at me astonished. 'The shoat can't be worth anything like that to you,' he says. 'What do you want him for?'"

"Viewing me casually, says I, with a rare smile, 'you wouldn't think that I've got an artistic side to my temper. But I have. I'm a collector of pigs. I've scoured the world for unusual pigs. Over in the Wabash Valley I've got a hog ranch with most every specimen on it, from a Merino to a Poland China. This looks like a blooded pig to me, Rufe, says I. 'I believe it's a genuine Berkshire. That's why I'd like to have it.'"

"I'd shore like to accommodate you," says he, "but I've got the artistic temperament too. I don't see why it ain't art when you can get a shoat better than anybody else can. Shoats is a kind of inspiration and genius with me. Specially this one. I wouldn't take two hundred and fifty for that animal."

"Now listen," says I, wiping off my forehead. "It's not so much a matter of business with me as it art; and not so much art as it is philosophy. Being a connoisseur and disseminator of pigs, I wouldn't feel like I'd done my duty to the world unless I added that Berkshire to my collection. Not intrinsically, but according to the ethics of pigs as friends and coadjutors of mankind, I offer you five hundred dollars for the animal."

"Jeff," says this pork aesthete, "it ain't money; it's sentiment with me."

"Seven hundred," says I.

"Make it eight hundred," says Rufe, "and I'll crush the sentiment out my heart."

"I went under my clothes for my moneybelt, and counted him out 40 20d. gold certificates.

"I'll just take him into my room," says I, "and lock him up till after breakfast."

"I took the pig by the hind leg. He turned on a squeal like the steam calliope at the circus.

"Let me tote him in for you," says Rufe; and he picks up the beast under one arm, holding his snout with the other hand, and packs him into my room like a sleeping baby.

"After breakfast Rufe, who had a chronic case of haberdashery ever since I got his troussseau, says he believes he will amble down to Miesitzky's and look over some royal-purple socks. And then I got as busy as a one-armed man with the nettlerash pasting on wallpaper. I found an old negro man with an express wagon to hire; and we tied the pig in a sack and drove down to the circus grounds.

"I found George B. Tapley in a little tent with a window flap open. He was a fatish man with an immediate eye, in a black skull-cap, with a four-ounce diamond screwed into the bosom of his red sweater.

"Are you George B. Tapley?" I asks.

"I swear it," says he.

"Well, I've got it," says I.

"Designate," says he. "Are you the guinea pigs for the Asiatic python or the altaifa for the sacred buffalo?"

"Neither," says I. "I've got Beppo, the educated hog, in a sack in that wagon. I found him rooting up the flowers in my front yard this morning. I'll take the 5000 dollars in large bills, if it's handy."

"George B. hustles out of his tent, and asks me to follow. We went into one of the side shows. In there was a jet-black pig with a pink ribbon around his neck lying on some hay and eating carrots that a man was feeding to him.

"Hey Mac," calls G. B. "Nothing wrong with the world-wide this morning, is there?"

"Him? No," says the man. "He's got an appetite like a chorus girl at 1 a.m."

"I would you get this pipe?" says Tapley to me. "Eating too many pork chops last night?"

"I pull out the paper and shows him the ad.

"Fate," says he. "Don't know anything about it. You've beheld with your own eyes the marvellous, world-wide porcine wonder of the four-footed kingdom eating with preternatural sagacity his maternal meal, untrayed and unstole. Good morning."

"I was beginning to see. I got in the wagon and told Uncle Ned to drive to the most adjacent office of the nearest alley.

There I took out my pig, got the range carefully for the other opening, set his sights, and gave him such a kick that he went out the other end of the alley 20ft. ahead of his squeal.

"Then I paid Uncle Ned his 60 cents, and walked down to the newspaper office. I wanted to hear it in cold syllables. I got the advertising man to his window."

"To decide a bet," says I, "wasn't the man who had this ad. put in last night short and fat, with long, black whiskers and a club-foot?"

"He was not," says the man. "He would measure about six feet by four; and a half inches, with corn-silk hair, and dressed like the panicles of the conservatory."

"At dinner-time I went back to Mrs. Peavy's."

"Shall I keep some soup hot for Mr. Tapley till he comes back?" she asks.

"If you do, ma'am," says I, "you'll more than exhaust for fire."

MINERS' PHTHISIS CONQUERED?

No New Cases On Rand
In Ten Years.

IMPROVED VENTILATION

Johannesburg (Transvaal).

The opinion that the time was not far distant when the incidence of silicosis (miners' phthisis) would cease to be a matter of serious concern to the gold-mining industry was expressed by Mr. G. A. Hildick Smith, President of the Mine Managers' Association in his address at the annual meeting of the Association.

Mr. Hildick Smith pointed out that no new Rand miner had been found suffering from silicosis in the last 10 years. The elimination, in whole or in part, of the dangerous dust from the underground air was the means whereby this state of affairs was being brought about.

Experiments in purifying the air by passing it through some suitable filtering medium or by the electrical precipitation of dust were being made, he added.

wood all the coal in the bosom of the earth and all forests on the outside of it."

"So there, you see," said Jefferson Peters, in conclusion, "how hard it is ever to find a fair-minded and honest business partner."

"But," I began, with the freedom of long acquaintance, "the rule should work both ways. If you had offered to divide the reward, you would not have lost."

Jeff's look of dignified reproach stopped me.

"That don't involve the same principles at all," said he. "Mine was a legitimate and moral attempt at speculation. Buy low and sell high—don't. Wall Street endorses it? Bulls and bears and pigs—what's the difference? Why not bribe as well as horns and fur?"

GIRL CHIEF OF SHOP GANG

Well-Known In Belgrade Society

IMMENSE STORE OF BOOTS

Belgrade.

A pretty, cultured girl of 26 has been arrested in Belgrade and charged with being the leader of one of the best organised gang of shop thieves in Europe.

Pepitza Trauber, dark, slim, exquisitely dressed, was formerly well-known in society in Belgrade, Zagreb and Ljubljana. Then she disappeared from her usual haunts.

After her arrest the police found a large warehouse belonging to the gang, which was stocked with all kinds of expensive goods, especially women's clothing and jewels.

They were the proceeds of robberies at nearly all the big shops in Belgrade, Zagreb and other towns.

The gang had over 50 members. In addition to a small group of professional shop breakers there were selling agents all over the country.

They employed a tailor, dress-maker and furrier to alter the stolen goods. Fur coats could be changed beyond recognition in a few hours.

Pepitza first fell into the hands of the police a few months ago after a jewel robbery in Zagreb but she escaped by a clever ruse.

Her shoes and stockings had been taken away from her to make escape difficult, but she slipped through a window of the court where she was awaiting examination and ran off into the darkness.

Chased by police, she entered a flat and told the woman she found there that she was running away from her husband, who had beaten her. The woman hid her until the police, whom she took to be the husband and his friends, had planned the escape.

Then Pepitza slipped out, taking the woman's handbag with her.

GUIDING VISITORS TO WASHINGTON

New Agency Established In Capital.

EXPLAINS "NEW DEAL"

Washington.
A new agency, whose function it is to act as a guide and a friend to visitors to Washington, has been set up by the Government. It also expounds information on the "New Deal" to all who care to ask for it.

The organization is known as "The United States Information Service," and functions in a downtown office building.

Four women clerks, supplied with 220 charts of Government departments, and a primer crammed with questions and answers about recovery agencies, will advise those who have business with the Government which particular official to see.

The primer, prepared by the National Emergency Council, was approved by each recovery agency concerned. Questions range from "Who is the head of the National Recovery Administration?" (Answer, the President), to "Why was P. W. A. authorized to make loans to railroads?"

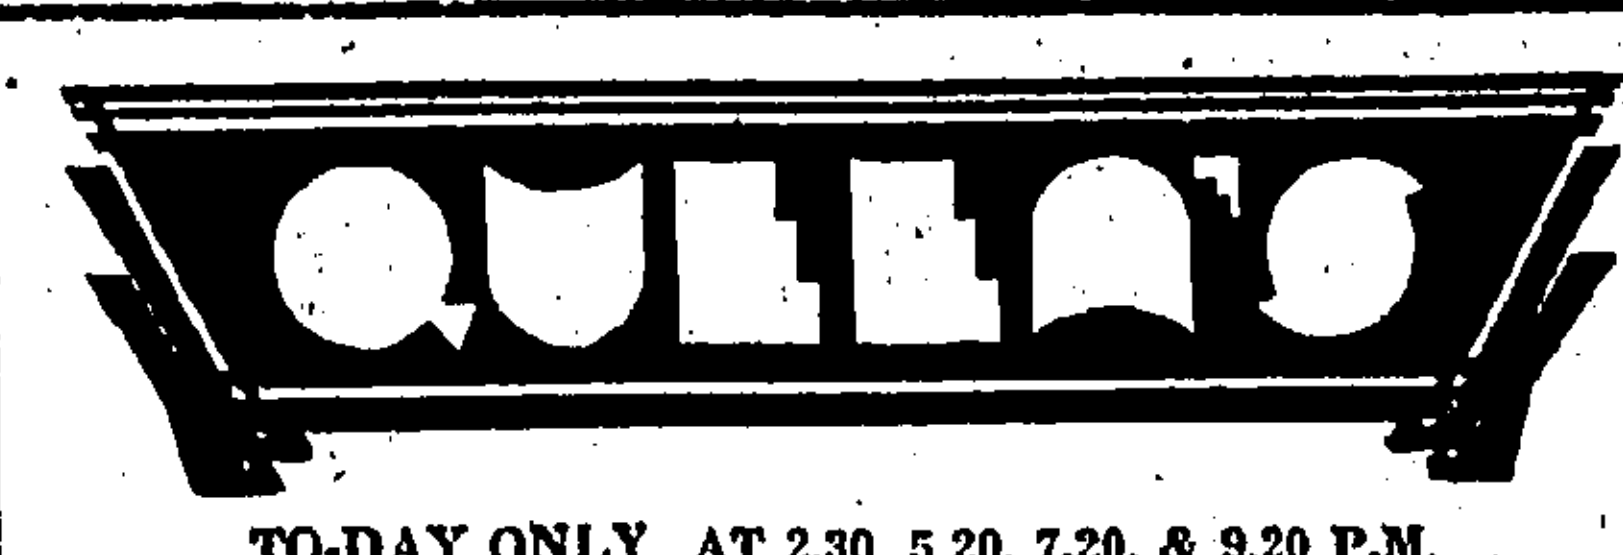

One of the main ideas in setting up the agency is to save the time of citizens, and others, bewildered by the maze of boards, bureaux and commissions.—Reuter.
